GUIDE NO. 10

Getting here and getting around

The airports, the roads, the bridges and the buses, and how to test a drive before you count on it.

How to use this guide

Read this guide once before your first visit. Then use the checklist at the end for each house you're serious about.

You won't find a drive time on these pages. The minutes change with the hour, the month and the bridge, so the guide shows you how to get your own number instead.

As you read, keep coming back to three questions

1. Which door will you drive to most?
2. Is there a drawbridge on the way?
3. Have you driven it at the real hour?

01

The shape of the coast

The coast is a long strip. One big road runs inland, one runs along the bay, and the islands hang off the edge on bridges.

Picture a map with the Gulf on the left. Next to the Gulf is a chain of thin islands. Behind them is the bay, and then the mainland.

Two roads run the length of the mainland. I-75, the interstate, runs down the inland side. US 41, called the Tamiami Trail, runs along the bay through the towns. Most of the streets you'll look at sit between those two roads.

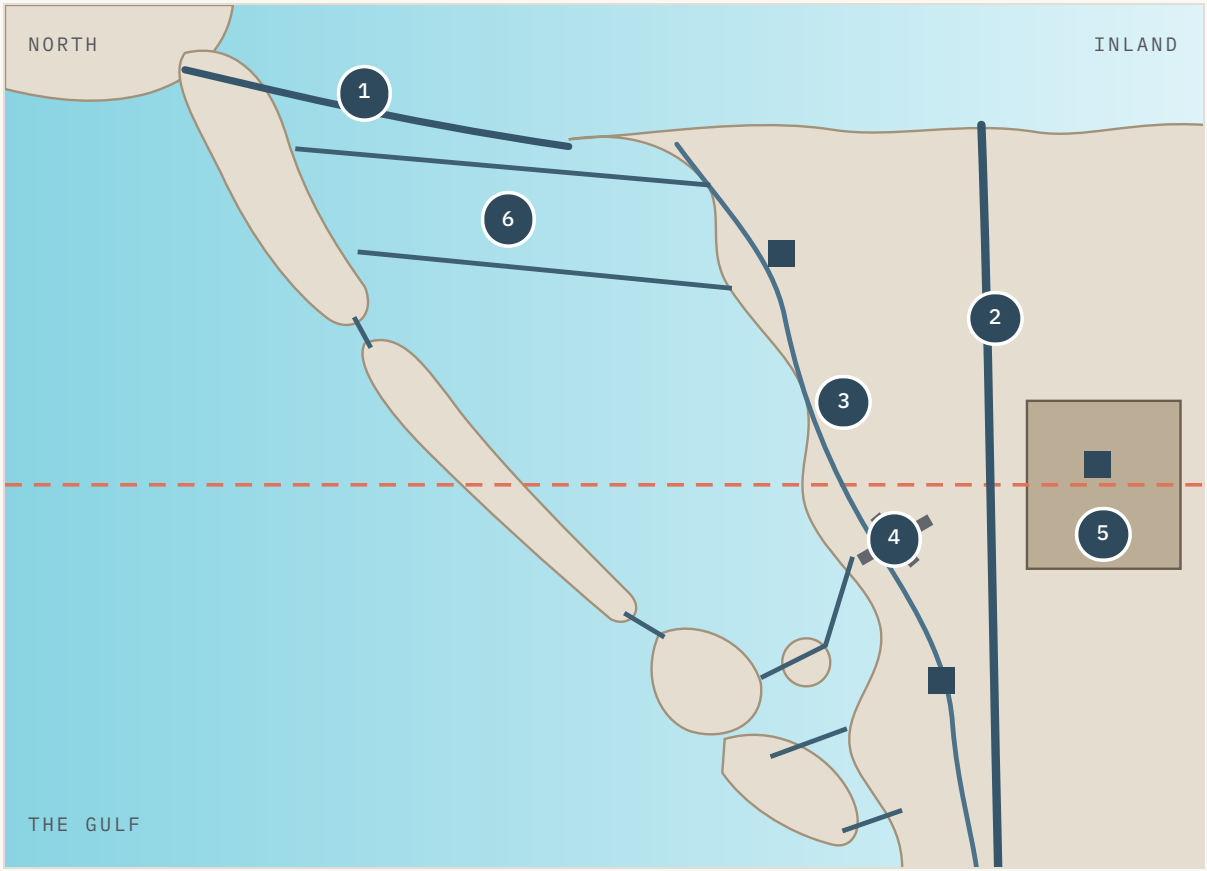

Lakewood Ranch is east of the interstate. You reach it from four exits: University Parkway, State Road 70, State Road 64 and Fruitville Road. The line between Manatee County and Sarasota County runs through it. Each county sets its own property tax rate, so the line matters.

The islands sit off the coast on bridges. Anna Maria Island, Longboat Key, Lido Key and Siesta Key each have their own.

1 The Sunshine Skyway
Carries I-275 across the mouth of Tampa Bay, from Manatee County to Pinellas County. A toll bridge, with no cash taken.

2 I-75
The interstate. It runs down the inland side of the coast.

3 US 41, the Tamiami Trail
The older road along the bay. It runs through Bradenton and Sarasota.

4 Sarasota Bradenton International Airport
Called SRQ. It sits in Sarasota, between the two cities.

5 Lakewood Ranch and the county line
East of the interstate, with the Manatee–Sarasota county line running through it.

6 The island bridges
Two to Anna Maria Island, a causeway to St. Armands and Lido, and two to Siesta Key. Most of them open for boats.

02

Four airports

The closest airport is in Sarasota. Three more are a longer drive away, and each one has its own set of flights.

Sarasota Bradenton International, called SRQ, is in Sarasota. It keeps a list of its nonstop flights by airline. Each one is marked year-round or seasonal, and the list changes with each schedule. So read it on the airport's site, not here.

Tampa International, called TPA, is in Tampa, across the Skyway. St. Pete–Clearwater, called PIE, is in St. Petersburg, in Pinellas County. Southwest Florida International, called RSW, is in Fort Myers, down the interstate.

All four are on the state's list of airports with airline service. We don't count the flights at any of them. The airports do that better, and the counts change.

When you compare them, look at the list of nonstop cities, not the size of the airport. A flight home with no change can be worth a longer drive. And check the list for the months you'll fly, since some flights run only in season.

The Skyway

The Sunshine Skyway carries I-275 across the mouth of Tampa Bay. There's a toll, and no one takes cash.

The bridge joins Manatee County to Pinellas County. The state lists it under Pinellas, Hillsborough and Manatee counties. It's the way north to St. Petersburg and the Tampa airport.

The toll is collected without a booth. If you have a SunPass, the toll comes off your account. If you don't, a camera takes a photo of your plate. The toll becomes a TOLL-BY-PLATE charge, and a bill goes to the car's registered owner, with an extra charge added.

So get a SunPass before your first drive. It settles the question, and it works on the state's other electronic toll roads too.

FIG. 03 · THE TOLL

The island bridges

Every island trip crosses a bridge, and most of them open for boats. That adds a wait a mainland trip doesn't have.

Two bridges lead from the mainland to Anna Maria Island: Manatee Avenue, which is State Road 64, and Cortez Road, which is State Road 684. Both are drawbridges. From 6 a.m. to 7 p.m., each opens for boats at a quarter past and a quarter to the hour. At other times it opens when a boat asks.

Siesta Key has two bridges of its own: Siesta Drive at the north end and Stickney Point Road at the south end. Both are drawbridges too. From 6 a.m. to 7 p.m., each opens on the hour and the half hour.

Those times matter to you, not just to boats. When the bridge opens, the cars wait. So if you reach a Siesta Key bridge on the half hour, you may sit while a sailboat goes through.

Longboat Key has a bridge at each end. At the north end, a bridge over Longboat Pass joins it to Anna Maria Island. At the south end, State Road 789 runs through St. Armands and over the Ringling Causeway to Sarasota.

Three of these bridges are changing. The state is building a new Cortez Bridge now, in two phases, over about 1,200 days. It plans to replace the Manatee Avenue drawbridge with a fixed bridge 65 feet above the water. Construction is set to be let in July 2028. And it's studying what to do with the Longboat Pass bridge: repair it, build a tall fixed bridge, or build a new drawbridge.

The Siesta Drive bridge is being repaired, with the work expected to finish in late 2026. Check FL511 before you drive. It shows live traffic and whether a drawbridge is open.

How to test a drive before you count on it

We don't print drive times. They change with the hour, the month and the bridge. Here's how to get your own number.

Picture the same drive on two days. A Tuesday in August, and a Saturday in March. The house is the same. The drive isn't.

So drive it yourself, twice. Leave from the house at the time you'd really leave. Go to the door you'd really walk through. Do it once in winter and once in summer, if you can. A map app's estimate is a starting point, not an answer.

Count the bridge and the Trail on their own. Those are the parts that don't smooth out. A drawbridge opening adds minutes you can't plan around. A long light on the Trail does the same.

Write down the time you left, the time you arrived, and where you waited. Do it again on the second day. Now you have two numbers of your own, and you know which one is the winter number.

FL511 is the state's traffic map. It shows live speeds, cameras, road work, and whether a drawbridge is open. Look at it at the hour you'd drive.

FIG. 05 · THE TEST

Four questions to answer before you count on a drive

Answer each one for the house. If any answer is no, the drive isn't tested yet.

1	Have you driven it at the hour you'd really leave?	☐ YES	☐ NOT YET
2	Did you start at the house and end at the door?	☐ YES	☐ NOT YET
3	Have you driven it in winter and in summer? The two can be very different drives.	☐ YES	☐ NOT YET
4	Do you know every drawbridge and every Trail light on the way? Count them. They're the parts that don't smooth out.	☐ YES	☐ NOT YET

Buses and the island trolley

Two counties, two bus systems. On Anna Maria Island, a free trolley runs the length of the island all day.

Manatee County's buses are run by Manatee County Area Transit, called MCAT. Its routes have numbers, and you need exact fare or a bus pass to ride.

Route 5 is the Anna Maria Island Trolley. It runs along Gulf Drive from the City Pier at the north end to Coquina Beach at the south end. It comes every 20 minutes, from 6 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., every day of the year. The trolley is free, and donations are accepted.

The trolley is a good way to see the island before you pick an end of it. Ride it from the pier to Coquina Beach and back, and you've seen the whole length of it.

Sarasota County's bus service is called Breeze. Look up its routes and fares on the county's site.

Before you choose a house

Use this list for each house you're serious about. Do the test drives before you make an offer, not after.

FIG. 07 · THE CHECKLIST

Seven things to do before you choose

Go in order. The first two take a visit. The rest take a few minutes each.

- ☐ 01 Pick the door you'll drive to most
  The office, the airport, the beach, the boat. Be exact.
- ☐ 02 Drive it at the real hour, from the house to that door
  Once in winter and once in summer, if you can.
- ☐ 03 Count every drawbridge and every Trail light on the way
  Those are the parts that don't smooth out.
- ☐ 04 Check FL511 at the hour you'd drive
  Live traffic, road work and drawbridge status.
- ☐ 05 Read the state's project page for any bridge on your route
  The Cortez, Manatee Avenue and Longboat Pass bridges are all changing.
- ☐ 06 Get a SunPass if you'll cross the Skyway
  No cash is taken. Without one, a bill comes in the mail with a charge added.
- ☐ 07 Look up the bus or trolley if you'll use one
  MCAT in Manatee County, Breeze in Sarasota County.
